This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

HISTORICAL SKETCH

OF THE

MERCANTILE LIBRARY COMPANY.

The Mercantile Library Company was instituted in the year 1821; the first meeting with a view to its establishment having been held at the Masonic Hall on the 10th of November in that year. From this meeting emanated a public notice, inviting merchants, merchants' clerks and others friendly to the formation of a "Mercantile Library Association," to meet at the Mayor's Court-room on the 17th of the same month. The object was submitted to the consideration of this meeting, and receiving the warm approbation of a large assemblage of merchants; a committee was appointed to report a constitution to a subsequent public meeting. The following gentlemen were appointed on this committee, Robert Waln, Robert Ralston, Joseph P. Norris, Zaccheus Collins, Bernard Dahlgren, John Roberts, Joseph H. Dulles, William H. Jones, and William E. Bowen. The duties thus assigned them received the particular attention of the distinguished citizens at the head of the list, whose names are an ornament not only to this institution, but to our city and the country at large. By their personal influence and wise counsels they have contributed greatly to the character of solid, unostentatious usefulness which the Company has hitherto sustained; and the original draft of the Constitution, with the autographs of these gentlemen, remains an interesting document among the records of the Library.

The following report of the committee shows the course taken in the organization of the Company.

"The committee appointed at a meeting of the 'merchants, merchants' clerks and others friendly to the formation of a Mercantile Library Association,' report,—

"That they have met and considered the subject referred to them, and now submit to the consideration of the meeting a draft of an association for the said purpose, and in order to carry the same (if approved) into effect, they submit to the meeting the following resolutions, viz.—

"Resolved, That the chairman of this meeting be authorised to appoint a committee of fifteen persons, whose duty it shall be to cause a correct copy of the said articles of association to be entered in a book to be provided for the purpose, and to obtain subscriptions to the same, and whenever a number of subscribers, not less than one hundred, shall be obtained, then to determine on the place and hour at which the first election of directors and treasurer shall be held, and to give notice thereof in four or more of the newspapers of this city; and that this committee have power to fill vacancies in its own body.

"Resolved, That the said committee shall appoint three suitable persons to receive the votes of the members of the association at the said election and to be the judges thereof; and it shall be the duty of the said committee to give notice to the persons chosen as directors and treasurer of their election; and they shall pay over to the treasurer all moneys which may have been received by them on account of the said association.

By order of the Committee,

ROB'T WALN, Chairman."

The preamble, which briefly exhibits the views of the founders of the Company, together with the articles of association, are annexed.

The Constitution was adopted by the unanimous vote of the adjourned meeting held on the 1st December, 1821.

The committee appointed to obtain subscribers, having within a few days more than three hundred members enrolled, gave public notice of the first election. This was held on the 10th of January, 1822, at the Merchants' Coffee House in Second-street near Walnut-street.

The following officers were elected, on whom devolved the labour of organizing the Library and carrying out the designs of its founders.

DIRECTORS.

Joseph P. Norris,	William L. Hodge,
Robert Waln,	Caleb Newbold, Jr.
Langdon Cheves,	William H. Jones,
Bernard Dahlgren,	William E. Bowen,
Thomas Biddle,	John M. Atwood,
William Chaloner,	Nicholas Thouron.
William M. Walmsley,

Joseph H. Dulles, Treasurer.

It being one chief object of the Institution to provide the advantages of a useful library at the least charge, the terms of membership were originally fixed at three dollars contribution on admission to membership, and a half-yearly payment of one dollar. These terms were varied subsequently as the value of the Library and the expense of sustaining it were increased.

The Board was organized on the 14th January, and on the 19th the rooms in the second story of the house No. 100 Chesnut-street were engaged at a rent of one hundred dollars a year, and D. Culver appointed Librarian at a salary of one hundred dollars; the Library to be kept open every evening excepting Sundays.

A committee of three (Messrs. Atwood, Dulles and Walmsley,) were charged with the selection and purchase of books, and in the course of a year had so far succeeded as to publish a respectable catalogue, to which a supplement was not long after added. The members originally appointed on this committee continued to serve sixteen years.

The Library was instituted under circumstances pe liarly favourable for the selection of books. Several of richest private collections in this city were sold at auc within a few months, and an opportunity was thus affor of supplying the Library with the most valuable work our own language at very low prices, and of procu such as are rarely to be found at any price. To this fc dation so happily made, has been added from time to t the best works in the English as well as some fore languages, and a selection of the popular publication the day.

The rooms were opened for use on the 5th March, 18 and an address to the public was made, setting forth objects of the Institution and the benefits to be derived men of business from the use of a library peculiarly adap to their purposes. This address was from the pen of W liam M. Walmsley, one of the purchasing committee, w laboured most faithfully in the service of the Comp from its institution until his decease, which occurred dur the present year.

In the year 1824 an additional catalogue was publish at which time the Library contained 1500 volumes, th being then 380 members.

The rooms being much resorted to by the members was deemed proper to add a few daily newspapers to collection of books and periodicals. At the annual meeti 12th January, 1825, it was ordered that this change made, and three city papers and two from New York w taken. The supply of papers has been moderately exte ed from time to time.

The most important measure adopted by the Compa since its organization, was that by which it resolved it into a joint-stock company. The plan was proposed by Directors at the annual meeting of the members in Janua 1826, and, in order to obtain deliberate action and acquiescence of all the members, the consideration of subject was postponed to an adjourned meeting held on the 26th January, when it was unanimously adopted.

The experiment of sustaining such an institution had been fairly tried; a valuable collection of books had been obtained; and the character of the Library was well established. To secure, in the most permanent form, the benefits thus acquired, it was resolved, viz. :—That, estimating the books, debts and furniture at $3000, the same be divided into 300 shares of ten dollars each, and that certificates of stock, transferable under regulations of the Board of Directors, be issued to that extent, subject to an annual payment of one dollar. The members of the Company who have contributed three dollars, to be entitled to purchase, each one share, at seven dollars.

At the annual meeting in January, 1829, the Directors were authorised to increase the issue of stock by two hundred shares additional, making five hundred shares in all.

In 1831 the contributions were increased, the stockholders being required to pay one dollar half-yearly, viz. on 1st January and 1st July, and subscribers to pay one dollar and a half at each half-yearly instalment. By these measures, the funds of the Company were greatly increased, and their valuable collection of books secured by a permanent interest in the shape of joint stock and by a certain revenue, from the dangers of decay, or any diversion from the main design of the proprietors.

On 17th April, 1826, the Library was removed to the second story of the building at the north-east corner of Chesnut and Fifth streets; and Mr. A. Reinley, who had acted a short time as Librarian, was succeeded by Mr. H. Ayres.

The increase of the Library led to the removal to larger rooms in the buildings of the American Sunday School Union, No. 144 Chesnut-street, in October 1827; and a new catalogue was published in July, 1828, comprising 2118 volumes.

On 26th July, 1830, James Cox was appointed Librarian, on the resignation of Mr. Ayres, and continues to discharge the duties of the office to the present time.

With a view to the improvement of the members, a series of lectures on mercantile law were delivered during the winter of 1827 and 1828, by a number of gentlemen of the bar. These on the following winter were renewed; and for several successive years courses of lectures were sustained by the Company, until the fall of 1837, when, on the formation of the Athenian Institute, the two associations united in the support of a course of lectures more extended and miscellaneous. These were in the highest degree popular, and added essentially to the refined enjoyments of our community. A similar course was delivered during the last winter with equal success.

The Library Company has deemed it proper to assume a separate action the present season, and arrangements being made for an entire course, it has been commenced under the most flattering circumstances. The influence thus exercised not among its members only, but throughout the community, in the diffusion of learning and sound principles in morals, is among the happiest features in the history of the Institution; and the liberal support given by the public is a gratifying evidence of the prevalent taste in our city.

In order to enjoy, to the fullest extent, the privileges of a corporate body, application was made in the year 1828, agreeably to the act of 6th April, 1791, and the Company became incorporated under the said act.

In the year 1832, an extended supplementary catalogue was published, at which time the Library contained 3118 volumes. With a view to still farther accommodations, in the year 1835 the Library was removed to the present situation, No. 134 Chesnut-street, where ample and well ventilated rooms are enjoyed.

Eighteen years have now elapsed since the institution of the Library, and although begun under the distrusts of many, it has never ceased to do good and to advance. Its reading rooms have been always well attended, and its choicest books have had an unceasing circulation. During this period many of its members have descended to the tomb, or become venerable from age; others have risen to the maturity of the highest mercantile character, while those who were once its youngest members, are found among the enterprising and successful merchants of the day; and a race from the ranks of boyhood are pressing on their steps. To them all, so far as they chose to use it, the Library has been a rich treasure, a pure and constant source of pleasure and improvement; and it is not invidious to affirm, that in its list of members may be found a very large proportion of the merchants of our city, who have most honoured their profession, have lived most virtuously and happily; who best enjoy and most usefully employ the fruits of their industry, and who are best prepared for the reverses to which all are exposed.

The Company at present comprises six hundred stockholders, one hundred and forty-eight contributing members, and eleven life subscribers.

The catalogues heretofore published at intervals of several years, were mere alphabetical lists of the books. In the present catalogue (containing upwards of six thousand volumes,) the books are enumerated according to the scientific classification of knowledge, and each in that division to which it more directly relates. The members will therefore find in a body each subject of learning, and will require no other assistance than this catalogue to find such books as they may desire.

A general index of the authors is annexed, which will enable any one to ascertain whether any particular book belongs to the Library, and to what class it has been assigned.
